COMMISSION TAKES UP WAITING RENT CASES

With the Monmouth apartment hotel case out of the way the District rent commission today resumed the routine of hearing of cases filed anywhere from two weeks to six weeks or more ago.

Two cases were scheduled for hearing today, but owing to the detention of Capt. James F. Oyster, chairman, at the Capitol, where he attended a session of the committee on school investigation, the hearings were not started at the regular hour, which is 10 o'clock a.m.

 Two cases were continued until Wednesday, these being Henry C. Weineke against Harry A. Glendon, for reduction of rent of an apartment on the third floor of 306 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, and Charles A. Prouty against the Capital Construction Company, for reduction of rent of an apartment in the Fortner.

Another of today's cases was dismissed when Henrietta Messink, plaintiff, reached a compromise with Theodore Oliver in the matter of possession of 1205 6th street northeast.

Vacancy Soon to Be Filled.
 Announcement of the appointment of a successor to Guy Mason, member of the rent commission, who resigned several weeks ago, may be made within two or three days, it was learned today.

Names of several men have been suggested to the President as qualified to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Mason's resignation, but no intimation has been given as to the President's choice.

It has been suggested that as Chairman Oyster is a business man and a real estate man, and several names have been suggested, it was intimated. However, no prominent realtor has announced a willingness to serve, but, on the contrary, a number of men in that business stated today that should the vacant commission ship be offered to them they would be under the necessity of declining.

It is not thought likely that an other attorney will be named on the rent commission, as it is felt that legal training is not a requisite, while in Commissioner Sinclair the commission already has a legal member.

While it was intimated today that the President virtually has reached a decision as to the appointment, it was stated that in the absence of Secretary Tumulty, who has not yet returned from Chicago, no announcement could be made.
